Case Study

Josie

The Challenge
Josie and her family were finding school holidays particularly difficult, with concerns about how they would manage long periods without routine, respite, or additional support.

Our Support
Alcedo Care began supporting Josie with a few hours of care each week, gradually increasing support during school holidays. Our carers provide companionship, community activities, and meaningful opportunities for Josie to spend time with someone closer to her own age.

The Difference
Josie now enjoys regular outings including bowling, music, and trips into the community. She looks forward to seeing her carers, while her family can enjoy valuable time to recharge and focus on their own wellbeing.

A Positive Future
Eighteen months on, support has become a valued part of family life. Reliable, consistent care has helped build confidence, independence, and happier daily routines for both Josie and her family.

> “For us, it has been absolutely life-changing. It’s been hugely important to our mental health and survival. All the carers have been absolutely lovely.”
